OVERVIEW

Clients appreciate Kamron's unique litigation skills, including working with opposing parties to diplomatically resolve conflicts.

Kamron attributes his innate skills as a litigator to his diverse background, his real-world business acumen and his economics education. He handles clients' commercial and employment litigation issues so they can remain focused on their business goals. An advocate for clients, Kamron sees litigation as an aspect of business that must be run effectively and efficiently to allow business to succeed. His goal is to distill complex legal situations into a business-focused explanation for decision makers.

Kamron has appeared in state and federal court at all procedural stages in a variety of matters involving commercial and employment litigation, including cases involving claims of breach of contract, trade secrets, business torts, federal and state discrimination and retaliation claims, and responses to Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission (NEOC) complaints, among others.

During his final year of law school, Kamron served as a legal intern for The Hon. Joseph F. Bataillon, U.S. District Court, District of Nebraska.

Husch Blackwell Team Gains Favorable Judgment for Client in Trade Secret Litigation

Farmobile, an independent farm data company, faced allegations that it misappropriated trade secrets from competitor Farmers Edge. The lawsuit sought a judgment declaring the plaintiff to be the owner of certain Farmobile intellectual property. Persuasive argument by the Husch Blackwell team, led by Marnie Jensen and including Kamron Hasan, resulted in a complete victory on summary judgment for Farmobile. When the decision was affirmed in the Eighth Circuit, the appellate court's decision noted unprotected information shared with a third party by plaintiff, and that our clients were not hired as inventors or under relevant contractual obligation.

Experience

- Secured district court's assigned value of $893 million – $300 million more than defendants' competing valuation – for Streck, Inc, in shareholder oppression case, one of Nebraska's largest valuation disputes. Decision was affirmed on appeal before the Nebraska Supreme Court.
- Served on collaborative pro bono legal team for Set Aside Program. Legal Aid of Nebraska screened candidates and Husch Blackwell attorneys helped participants fill out documents to nullify criminal convictions, such as shoplifting, that would otherwise impact job searches and the ability to serve in the military.
- After filing motion, brief and evidence for preliminary injunction on behalf of national canine research organization, served on legal team that achieved voluntary agreement from a municipality to stop enforcement of breed-specific canine ban.

Experience

- Represented company founder in shareholder dispute, obtaining one of the largest civil judgments in Nebraska history. The Nebraska Supreme Court affirmed the judgment in favor of the founder, granting over $750 million in value and interest for their shares in the Company.
