OVERVIEW

As a corporate attorney, Remy structures complex transactions and solutions across the globe.

Remy counsels private equity investors, their portfolio companies, and other privately held and publicly traded companies in mergers and acquisitions, equity financings, divestitures, corporate governance and other high-stakes corporate matters. He has completed domestic and cross-border transactions in a broad range of industries. Remy has significant experience in spaces including:

- Healthcare and Life Sciences
- Software and New Technologies
- Business Services
- Consumer Products

Remy works closely with clients to optimize deals in terms of business objectives, not just legal issues. He understands that successful transactions work not just for the moment at hand, but through the comprehensive future of a business or company. In addition to his transactional practice, Remy also acts as primary outside counsel for emerging companies in all phases of the startup life cycle, from initial formation to exit strategy.
