OVERVIEW

Amanda manages eDiscovery in complex litigation: producing and analyzing the puzzle pieces of solid legal strategy.

Amanda serves on the eDiscovery Solutions team, identifying key evidence that provides solutions for client cases. Although she is valued for her attention to detail, she keeps the big picture in mind when reviewing and analyzing large volumes of e-documents for production. With nearly 15 years of experience in eDiscovery processes and supervising such teams, Amanda is critical to streamlining complex commercial litigation. She couples her legal knowledge with best practices in technology and project management to produce best outcomes for case strategy. Clients and legal teams trust Amanda for the cost-efficiency that eDiscovery produces in addition to her teamwork mindset.

Along with ensuring quality control on a broad range of e-documents – for responsiveness, confidentiality, privilege, patient information and proprietary information – Amanda is also a trusted business advisor. She has advised one of the United States' largest privately held corporations on the retention, storage and defensible destruction in all categories of documents and e-documents.
