OVERVIEW

McKenzie is an experienced paralegal who supports attorneys and clients in all phases of complex litigation matters.

McKenzie began working in the legal industry in 2010 and has supported legal teams in a wide variety of litigation for nearly 15 years. She has provided paralegal support for complex cases involving partnership, shareholder, and contract disputes; noncompete agreements and/or trade secrets; and real estate disputes. McKenzie has also been heavily involved in supporting litigation teams in every phase at bench and jury trials and is intricately familiar with litigation processes.

Clients and legal teams appreciate McKenzie's attention to detail and dedication to each client's specific needs and goals. She currently focuses on the financial services and capital markets industries and facilitates matters at all phases of litigation through trial preparation and appeals.
