ACREL Names Lubinski to Its 2018 New Fellow Class

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce the election of Joey Lubinski into the American College of Real Estate Lawyers (ACREL).

Lubinski practices in the Denver office of Husch Blackwell where he concentrates on real estate finance and transactional real estate matters.

ACREL is considered the preeminent honorary organization for practicing real estate attorneys in the United States. Admission to the organization is by invitation only and involves a rigorous screening process that evaluates a candidate's legal ability, experience and high standards of professional and ethical conduct in the practice of real estate law. Lubinski is the only member of the 2018 class from the State of Colorado.
