Laura Robinson Named to 2021 "Most Influential Women" by Springfield Business Journal

The Springfield Business Journal has named Husch Blackwell's Laura Robinson one of its 2021 Most Influential Women.

Robinson, a senior associate based in Husch Blackwell's Springfield office, focuses her practice on commercial litigation with an emphasis on construction and design, employment, education, real estate and domestic and international contract law. She also coordinates the Springfield office's summer associate program and maintains a robust pro bono practice. Robinson earned her J.D. magna cum laude from the University of Arkansas School of Law and has twice been named to the Best Lawyers in America®: Ones to Watch (Commercial Litigation) listing.

Robinson and 19 more 2021 Most Influential Women recipients were honored at an October 5, 2021 event.
